DETAILED ACTION

1. The preliminary amendment filed on April 12, 2004 with the application has been entered. According, the specification has been amended

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 2 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fuke et al. (US Patent No.: 5,911,085).

Regarding claims 1 and 2, Fuke et al. ('085) discloses a light emitting device (Figure 1) comprising:

- an emission unit 3 including an arc tube 3 (Figures 5A and 5B, column 1, lines 25-28; and column 2, lines 37 and 38)
- a pair of reflector means 1 and 2 arranged in a longitudinal direction (Figures 5A and 5B, column 1, lines 25-28); and the reflecting means reflecting luminous flux from the arc tube 3 (Figures 5A and 5B, column 1, lines 25-28);

- the direction of the luminous flux varying according to a distance between the emission unit 3 and the reflecting means 2 (Figures 5A and 5B, column 1, lines 38-54);
- the direction of the luminous flux varying in direction parallel with the longitudinal direction tube 3 – a three dimensional configuration of the reflecting means would allow light flux discharge in three dimensions- according to a distance between the emission unit 3 and the reflecting means 2 (Figures 5A and 5B, column 1, lines 38-54); and
- the light emitting device – a flash discharge tube - (included in a camera not shown, column 1, lines 11-16).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fuke et al. (US Patent No.: 5,911,085) in view of Leadford et al. (US Patent No.: 6,419,375 B1) .

Regarding Claim 3, Fuke et al. ('085) discloses a light-emitting device (Figure 1) comprising a light reflecting means reflecting light emitted by a discharge tube.

However, Fuke et al. ('085) does not teach the light-emitting device further including a light-permeable optical unit fixed to the reflecting means. On the other hand, Leadford et al. ('375 B1) discloses a light fixture 10 (Figure 1) comprising an arc tube 40; a light reflecting means 18; and a light-permeable optical unit 20 (Figure 1, column 5, lines 47-55; and column 6, lines 32-36).

It would be have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the light emitting unit of Fuke et al. ('085) by providing the light-permeable optical unit for protection of the discharge tube and reflecting surfaces from physical and environmental degrading elements.

Regarding Claim 4, Fuke et al. ('085) in view of Leadford ('375 B1) discloses the light emitting device 3 (Figure 1) further comprising the light-permeable optical unit 20 (Leadford, Figure 1) refracting light luminous flux varying to a direction respective to a direction orthogonal – a three dimensional configuration of the light reflecting means would allow light flux discharge in three dimensions- to longitudinal direction arc tube 3.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 5 and 6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art of record, including Fuke et al. ('085) and Leadford ('375 B1), does not show or suggest the applicant's invention as claimed. Specifically, the prior art of record does not disclose a light-emitting device specifically combining:

- the luminous flux not reaching to the light reflecting means when the distance between the light-emission unit and the light reflecting means is shorter than a predetermined distance as recited in Claim 6; and
- the light -emission unit including a light guide member positioned between the pair of light reflecting means as recited in Claim 6.

The above-indicated combinations make this invention unique.

Therefore claims 5 and 6, each dependent on Claim 1, are objected over prior art,

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
